Opportunity

Vaughn Weidel, Personnel Manager of Campus Station WNTC, has announced that a meeting will be held today at 1:30 p.m. in room 119 of the State Teachers College for all those interested in joining the staff of the station. Vaughn pointed out that "this will be the only meeting held this year at which new personnel will be able to join the station membership."

Jobs now open on the station include those of announcers, control room operators, typists, record librarians, publicity agents, engineers, business agents, and many others pertaining to the normal operation and maintainance of the station. Vaughn added, that any students who are interested and are unable to attend the meeting, should notify him at their earliest convenience.

Station WNTC Back on Air

Campus Station WNTC, 640 on the dial, returned to its full broadcasting schedule last Monday, November 1. It was announced by Herman Steinborn, station manager, that the station hoped to remain on the air for the remainder of the year without undue interruption in its schedule.

Among the programs which have been arranged for the listening pleasure of the radio audience, are several featuring the talents of the students of both the State Teachers College and of Clarkson.

In order to present programs of interest to all of the listening audience, Dick Meyer, program chairman, has invited "you not only to request numbers on the recorded shows, but also to submit suggestions for possible new programs, and your opinions of the programs which are being initiated this year."
